It's "all double drill and no canteen" in the Tiger camp for Coach Schulte is feeding his Bengals a double ration of work daily in preparation for the game with Gene Van Gent's Texas Longhorns next Saturday. The Tigers will go up against an eleven that in past years has been the terror of the Southwest.

The Tigers are reputed to have the best line in the Valley—Texas is said to have the strongest line in the Southwest, and when the two meet it may be a case of an irresistible force hitting an immovable object. But Schulte is not satisfied with his line, for practically all of yesterday afternoon's line work was given to shoving the sled around, an exercise that will put muscle on a skeleton. Muir, Groves, Preston, Hamilton and the other linemen put their shoulders against the big wooden raft until it sailed across the grass like a sled on snow.

Schulte Sends 'Em At The Dummy.

Another form of practice the Tigers are indulging in is blocking. The secret of the Tigers' great interference lies in Schulte's method of teaching the assisting game. The old dummy is brought into service and the Bengals hurl themselves at the old boy until the sawdust starts oozing out of his joints and he squeaks for mercy. No scrimmage was held yesterday.

Bill Collins, the young halfback whose work has been the sensation of the Tiger season, appeared on the field in full war armor yesterday for the first time since the Ames game. Collins ran signals with the team and tried to get in on some of the side-stepping practice Schulte was giving the backfield men, but the Indian feared another injury to Collins' shoulder and kept him out. He has little chance of facing the Longhorns. His shoulder will not be well enough to permit him to get into scrimmage for several weeks yet.

Peoples, in a Huff Says He's Through.

Peoples, the Tiger's drop kicker, has deserted the squad and, according to reports from Rollins Field, vows he will never again don a Tiger football suit. "Peep" is a great drop kicker—but that lets him out. According to members of the squad, Peoples thought his drop kicking ability was enough to warrant his being taken on the Oklahoma trip. Schulte did not so Peoples quit.

Jayhawkers' Form Against Aggies a Surprise.

The Jayhawkers' showing against the Kansas Aggies last Saturday was one of the real surprises of the season. In fact it would not have been as great a surprise had Kansas won instead of tying the score, for what upset the dope was that Olcott's men completely outplayed their Manhattan opponents. The old hoodoo, which also keeps Missouri from trimming Ames, has a suburban residence at Manhattan and generally prevents the Aggies from winning. But the Aggies never really threatened the K. U. goal and the Jayhawkers several times came within an ace of a score. It begins to look as if the Kansas boys were pulling their annual stunt—a late season come-back just in time to be in great shape for the Tigers.

Next Saturday A Valley "If" Day.

The Oklahoma-Kansas game next Saturday and the Ames-Nebraska contest are going to be the most closely watched combats of the season. Nebraska should beat Ames—but if the Cyclones can upset the dope and trim the Cornhuskers it will mean a virtual championship for the Tigers. Nebraska will have a clear title if she trims Mayser's men. Witnesses of the Nebraska-Nebraska Wesleyan game say the Cornhuskers put up a poor game—poor enough to make an Ames victory Saturday possible. But the Nebraskans had just returned from a long trip to the Pacific Coast. They were facing an easy game. The chances are that they let up just a little and not that they are in any way losing any of their ability to drive down the field against any team in the Valley.

The Sooner-Jayhawker contest should be a real one. The Sooners are not the wonders of old. Kansas is in the midst of a come-back. It looks like a toss up. If Kansas plays as she did against the Aggies, Owen's men will have to hustle. But if the Jayhawkers repeat their Illinois performance the Oklahomans should run away with the game. With both teams at top form it's a hard game to figure on. Comparative scores via the Ames-Kansas, Ames-Missouri, Missouri Oklahoma games give the Sooners the edge. But that's a long way around.

Basketball Practice Will Begin Tomorrow.

Coach Johnnie Miller announced today that basketball practice will start at 7:15 o'clock tomorrow night in the gymnasium. Every eligible player in school is expected to report. Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights will be reserved for Varsity practice and Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday for freshmen. The men will be given light work until in condition. After Thanksgiving, practice will be every night.

Kewpies to Meet Richmond Eleven.

Columbia football fans will have an opportunity to see two of the fastest high school teams in the State play here Friday when the Richmond, Mo., eleven will attempt to eliminate the Columbia Kewpies from the race for the State title. Neither team has met defeat this season at the hands of a high school eleven, and each has the championship bee buzzing in its ear, so a battle royal is assured those who journey to the Fairgrounds at 3 o'clock, Friday.

Coach Schooler of the Kewpies realizes that his team is going to be subjected to a real acid test in the Richmond game, and is putting his men through the hardest workouts of the year in preparation for the contest. The team came out of the Slater game in good shape, and will present its full strength against Richmond with the exception of Petty, who has malaria fever. Henderson will be moved from the line to direct the team at quarter. The change will weaken the Columbia machine, as Petty is a good general and leads the team well.

Charles Woody will referee the game, with Hughes of Richmond umpiring and Paul Vogt as a headlinesman.

"The Kewpies have been displaying a brand of football this year that any high school could well be proud of," said a high school teacher this morning. "The boys deserve the active support of all loyal Columbians. It will prove worth while to any lover of the gridiron game to journey to the Fairgrounds Friday and see the Columbia eleven play."

American Team Is Still Winning.

Today's reports add nothing further to the account of the athletic contests held at Malmö, Sweden, Sunday in which Fred Murray, the California star, is credited with winning the 110-meter hurdles in 16.2 seconds with Thorsen, of Sweden, second. No mention is made of Simpson and it is believed that the Tiger athlete did not compete in the race. The fact that Simpson won the broad jump, took second in the 200-meters run and ran in the relay race, all in the same afternoon, is taken as evidence that he did not enter the hurdle race. The contest was won in slow time, 16.2 seconds. A week ago Simpson won the high hurdles at Christiana in 14.9 seconds over a frozen course.

In the six events held Sunday—110-meter hurdles, high jump, 200-meters run, 800-meters run, broad jump and 400-meters relay race—the Americans won four and tied one. Meredith, the former Pennsylvania star and holder of world's records in the quarter-and half-mile races, was defeated in the 800-meters run by J. Bolin of Sweden who finished in 1:58.8. Meredith's time was one-tenth of a second less.
